Walt helped his father on a farm as much as he could. When he had time Walt loved to draw, but he didn't have any paper and pencils of his own. His aunt Maggie gave him a pad of paper and a box of pencils.

One day Walt's brothers Raymond and Herb left the farm to go and live in Kansas City. Only Walt, his brother Roy and sister Ruth did housework. Walt and Roy were not strong enough to take the place of their older brothers. Mr. Disney had to do most of the heavy work himself.
